

Do you have Harcourt up and Running? Are you happy with your centers? If not, here are some sites that have games that can enhance your reading centers. Let's find out what the publishers have to say about their sites.

1. ABCya: ABCya! provides high quality children's educational games and activities. All educational games and activities were created or approved by certified teachers! Games and activities are modeled from primary grade lessons and enhanced to provide an interactive way to learn.

2. Play Kids Games: Play Kids Games.com is a site designed by parents of young kids.

It is our intention is to provide a web site that parents and kids can use to learn basic skills while having fun. It is our goal to provide a safe place to learn computer skills, math skills, reading skills and problem solving skills in a context that is fun to use.

3. Vocabulary is Fun: Vocabulary is Fun is a leading vocabulary website worldwide with the best flash online word games. The vocabulary games include an online word search, an online crossword puzzle, and hangman online (our version is called HangMouse). Users choose the vocabulary list that the online word game will use in the word game. The vocabulary games are popular for use on smart boards for word games to build vocabulary skills in classrooms.

4. Primary Games: This site was created by Susan Shuey Beasley .She originally designed the educational games in this site for her own students. However, once she saw their growing popularity among children around the world, she decided to expand this site and create games for students everywhere. It has many flash games in a variety of subjects.

5. Oldies but Goldies: As you are trying new things don't forget about sites such as Spelling City, Quizlet, Starfall, and the interactive games on the Harcourt Resources site from Phenix City.

Have a great Labor Day weekend!
